

#REWRITEYOURSTORY

Cyberbullying

Target age group

Lower and Middle Secondary

Lesson duration

 15mins - 45mins

Lesson overview

These lesson plans explore the topic of cyberbullying, its impact and avenues for seeking help. The focus of the activities is to explore the impact of cyberbullying on yourself, others, your family and the school community. The activities are based on the Rewrite Your Story (RYS) online resources. RYS is designed to empower young people to consider, discuss and take action about cyberbullying and other negative online behaviour.

Through a series of eight high-quality short films, an interactive quiz and discussion-starter in-school activities, RYS explores real life cyberbullying experiences to help other young people find a pathway to rewrite their stories too.

This lesson plan explores Sienna's Story.

Lesson outcomes

- Define serious cyberbullying.
- Understand the concept of social and ethical protocols in the context of technology use.
- Critically analyse the impact of decisions and actions on yourself, others, your family and the school community when using technology.
- Become familiar with relevant resources on the RYS website, including how to report serious cyberbullying.

Australian Curriculum

This lesson plan supports a number of capabilities in the Australian Curriculum, including Information and communication technology, Ethical behaviour and Personal and social competence.

Background

RYS is a youth-focussed initiative which explores cyberbullying and the other online issues that young people face. The Office's latest research shows 19 per cent of teenagers (aged 13-17) experienced cyberbullying in the 12 months to June 2016. However, levels of reporting do not reflect this figure. This begs the question, why aren't young people exhibiting help-seeking behaviour with adults in this space?

RYS features real-life cyberbullying stories, alongside advice and support about how to handle it from both youth and professionals. Important information for teachers is housed on the RYS website that aims to assist in starting a conversation about online issues and working out strategies on how to resolve, recover and build resilience from risks such as cyberbullying.

The program also provides essential information about how and when to report serious cyberbullying to the Office. The Office's cyberbullying complaints scheme allows young people, parents and an authorised adult (such as a teacher) to report serious cyberbullying material and to get that material removed.

RYS is an educational program designed to empower young people to be courageous in the face of cyberbullying, guide them when they need, and help them to support their friends.

Instructions

The focus of this activity is to assist in starting a conversation about online issues and working out strategies on how to resolve, recover and build resilience from risks such as cyberbullying.

1. Watch the Sienna video.

General question you may like to consider to get your class thinking about the issues:

- What do you think cyberbullying actually is? When someone close to you is being bullied online, what do you do?

2. Allocate Sienna and Amy's personal stories to students as case studies.

3. Ask each student to log into the RYS site (www.esafety.gov.au/rys) and take the Online quiz. Click on It's a School Activity and answer according to each character. In starting the quiz for Sienna enter 'It's about a friend' and for Amy enter 'It's about myself.'

Suggested questions post activity:

- What type of cyberbullying behaviour did you choose in the quiz for Amy and Sienna?
- If a friend is targeted online and you know who's behind it, what do you do?
- Sienna feels stuck in the middle because both Amy and Skye are her friends. What do you think she should do?
- What are the avenues of help that each of the characters could use?
- Discuss the impact of cyberbullying for each character and brainstorm how Sienna (bystander), Amy (target) and Skye (perpetrator) can rewrite their story.

Answers to the suggested questions are below. Check out the RYS website for lots of useful tips and advice.

Activity 2: Cyberbullying and its impact

Instructions

The focus of this activity is on the impact of cyberbullying on yourself, others, your family and the school community. The length of the activity is dependent on the number of questions asked. You may also like to split the class into small groups with each group being given a different character perspective to explore.

1. Watch the Sienna video.

General questions you may like to consider:

- What do you think cyberbullying actually is?

- Is anonymous cyberbullying common? Why do you think so?

2. Suggested character perspective questions and answers:

Sienna:

Q: When someone close to you is being bullied online, what can you do?

Q: What you would do if you were in Sienna's position? Would you:

- A) Tell your friend
- B) Tell an adult like a teacher or parent
- C) Do nothing
- D) None of the above

A: Take a poll in the class about the answers A to D in the question above to gauge student's views. Discuss why they chose that particular answer using the questions below.

Q: It's hard to speak up when both the person doing the cyberbullying and the person being bullied are your friends. Who could Sienna go to get advice about what to do?

A: Friends, adults and the Office of the Children's eSafety Commissioner.

1. Friends:

The role of both the active and silent bystander can be explored. There's a lot friends can do to support someone being cyberbullied.

The active bystander:

Talk through some of the strategies outlined in Support and Empower.

A friend in need is a friend indeed examines what you can say to someone if they're being cyberbullied.

10 good responses if your friend is being cyberbullied examines how you can support a friend while still protecting yourself.

The silent bystander and how to become an active bystander:

It's not always easy outlines how sometimes doing the right thing is really hard. It takes courage to do something different and try to swim against the tide. What will you decide to do?

2. Adults and the Office of the Children's eSafety Commissioner:

Get Help outlines the different roles adults can play in helping young people. Strategies include the following:

- i. have a conversation with adults including parents, teachers and counsellors

- ii. make a complaint about the cyberbullying. This is a great opportunity to raise awareness for the class about the cyberbullying complaints scheme and how the Office can help to have serious cyberbullying content taken down from social media sites.

Q: What do you say to someone who is really upset? What if Amy wasn't in your close circle of friends and you don't know her well but feel like you should help?

A: Talk through some of the strategies outlined in Courage.

Small acts = Big impact examines how it's sometimes the little things that can make the difference to someone who is really feeling down.

A: Talk through some of the strategies outlined in Guidance.

Advice Sienna can give Skye:

How can we help outlines how to report cyberbullying to the Office and to get support even if you bullied back.

Amy:

Q: Amy is feeling helpless and like no one but Sienna is on her side. What steps can Amy take to feeling more empowered?

A: Talk through some strategies outlined in Empower.

Take back what's yours outlines practical steps on how to feel empowered when the hate is at its worst.

Generally:

Let's finish Sienna's story:

The bullying has stopped and the content is down but Amy is staring at her Instagram posts, wondering if she dare click 'like'. What are some ideas on how Sienna can help Amy to reboot and start to rewrite her story?

A: Talk through some strategies outlined on the RYS empowerment after cyberbullying has happened.

- How can each of the girls in 'Sienna' rewrite their stories?

Follow up discussion:

Finish this sentence: "If I was bullied online, instead of bullying back, I would....."

Post the group's answers on our RYS social media feeds.
