Notice of abhorrent violent material on your service

Dear [REDACTED],

The attached notice requires your immediate attention

In April 2019, the Australian Government amended the Criminal Code Act 1995 (the Act) to introduce new offences for the sharing of 'abhorrent violent material'. More information can be found at the Australian Parliament website.

Abhorrent violent material is offensive material that records or streams certain types of conduct—such as terrorist acts, murder, attempted murder, torture, rape or kidnapping—and is produced by someone who engaged in or is otherwise connected with the conduct.

The eSafety Commissioner is satisfied on reasonable grounds that abhorrent violent material (the material) can be accessed on [REDACTED]. The material is available at the following URL:

[REDACTED]

Details of the material are provided in Schedule A.

As a result, I have issued a notice under section 474.35 of the Act. I attach a certified copy of the notice. The effect is to place the provider of [REDACTED] on notice about the material. It is a serious offence for a content service provider to fail to expeditiously remove this material. The notice creates a presumption that the provider is reckless from the time this notice is issued.

Please let us know once you have removed the material from your website. If you have any questions about the notice or the basis for it, please contact [REDACTED]

Yours faithfully,

Julie Inman Grant
